THE TOWN'S PEOPLE

MRS. M. NORCROSS STRATTON

"How can she do it all?" is the question that comes to mind when the activities of Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton of 11 Trowbridge street are listed.

A resident of Arlington for thirty years, during which time she has brought up her family of four girls and a boy, she has taken part in many civic activities. That one of her earliest interests should be in Arlington schools seems natural, since her husband at the conclusion of his present term will have served twenty-five years on the School Committee.

Mrs. Stratton's service started in 1933 when she was the first president of the Crosby School Parent-Teacher Assn. Since then she has been president of the P. T. A. Council and is now on its executive board. Long an active member of the Arlington Woman's Club, she was its secretary for three years, has been on the Legislative Committee, has been chairman of the Education Committee and last year was chairman of the Press Publicity Committee. This year she holds no office in the local club but is secretary of the Mothercraft Committee of the State Federation. She is also on the board of directors of the Community Chest, on the board of the Arlington Visiting Nurses' Association and of the Camp Fire Girls, is a member of the Arlington Tuberculosis (Continued on Page 10)

Directors of Boys' Club Give Appreciation Dinner to Deane Moores

PARKING METERS C. OF C. TOPIC

The topic of consideration at the first fall meeting of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce to be held Tuesday, October 14, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall will be Parking Meters. Shall Arlington Have Them? The speakers will be Edwin R. Sage, Cambridge merchant, who will tell the history of parking meters and their worth from his personal knowledge as a business man in Cambridge, and Chief Archie F. Bullock.

A catered hot roast tenderloin dinner will be served at half past six.

Executive Director Deane Moores and Mrs. Moores were guests of honor at a dinner given by the directors of the Arlington Boys' Club last Thursday evening at the clubhouse. Other guests were the Moores' two sons, Frank and Donald, and twenty-three of the older boys from the club. The dinner was in appreciation of the work done by Mr. Moores in the ten years he has served as director and as a farewell, since he left Tuesday morning to assume his new duties at the Hartford Boys' Club. He will be joined by his family the middle of the month.

Martin Durkin, acting as toastmaster, introduced the speakers, who included William C. Adams, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen and president of the club; Monsignor Matthew J. (Continued on Page 10)

The Soviet Union introduces in the Political and Security Committee of the U.N. General Assembly a resolution ordering the withdrawal of all foreign military personnel from Greece. In Paris, representatives of 16 nations sign the "Committee of European Cooperation General Report." The principal elements in the program are: (1) A productive effort unparalleled in Europe's history. (2) Drastic programs to curtail inflation and put Europe's monetary system on a firm basis. (3) A cooperative effort to reduce trade barriers and to form, eventually, a European customs union. (4) Large but diminishing American aid for four years, to tide Europe over until she can pay her own way.

CHIEF TIERNEY ANNOUNCES FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

To the people of Arlington:

President Truman has proclaimed the week of October 5-11, 1947, Fire Prevention Week.

The greatest loss of life and property is caused by residential fires. Arlington is strictly residential having over eight thousand homes housing approximately twelve thousand families. It should be each individual's prime responsibility to take every precaution that tragic deaths and severe property loss may be avoided.

Monday, October 6, 1947, our Twenty-fourth Annual Cellar Inspection begins. The inspectors will check all hazards and tell you of any dangers that exist. They will also advise you how to eliminate such defects. Feel free to ask them anything pertaining to the protection of your lives and (Continued on Page 7)

The sympathy of the town goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Flynn (Marie Mae Haley) of 43 Pine street, in the death of their seven-year-old daughter, Patricia. The little girl was hit by a truck and killed instantly as she was crossing Massachusetts avenue at Brattle street on her way home from the Cutter School.

Planning Board Approves New Free-Way to Boston

Stating that "it will considerably cut the running time for motor vehicles to Boston proper and should enhance the value of the town as a residential suburb," the Planning Board expressed to the Selectmen their approval of the plan advanced by the Cambridge Council for a free-way type of highway from the intersection of the Concord pike and the West Boston bridge.

The proposal, approved by the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club, is for any direct and convenient route through Cambridge and Somerville with access to the road at Porter, Union, and Lechmere squares. The road would be built without cost to the town, the expense being borne by the state and federal governments.

Two Children Hit by Autos

Last Saturday morning, Peter Cullinane, 6, of 19 Varnum street, was hit by a truck driven by Melville H. Stratton, Jr., of Boston. Mr. Stratton took the child to Symmes in a passing auto and he was treated by Dr. Gersh. The accident occurred opposite 10 Varnum street.

As Mrs. Helen Spore was driving her sedan down Highland avenue toward Massachusetts avenue, near Ottawa road Tuesday afternoon, six-year-old Donna Robinson of 63 High Road ran across the street and struck the left front fender. Mrs. Spore took the little girl to Dr. Barstow's office where she was treated for head injuries and then took her home.

Two hundred lots in Arlington will be made available to veterans at one dollar a lot. This good news was announced this week by G. Bertram Washburn, George Drew and Stanley M. Ryerson for the Veterans' Housing Committee.

Whether one or two-family houses can be built will depend upon the zoning law of the section in which the land lies—some is in one-family zones and some in two. However, says Mr. Washburn, if a veteran buys a lot he must build on it within a reasonable time. Building materials, he added, can be bought now, and being an architect and builder, he should know. He expressed the belief that only courage and industry were needed to make new homes possible for two hundred veterans.

The statement of the committee follows:

Veterans Housing in Arlington. The securing of adequate living quarters is an item of major importance to Arlington Veterans, hence this attempt to relate briefly how Arlington is attempting to help relieve the housing shortage.

Early in May, the Board of Selectmen appointed a Committee on Veterans Housing, composed of twenty-six prominent citizens and the Director of the Department of Veterans' Services. This committee included the Moderator of the Town Meeting, the two representatives in General Court, the Commanders of Veterans Organizations, architects, builders, and real estate men. This committee completed a survey of housing needs and also one on available housing.

The survey of housing needs was made by questionnaire mailed to discharged veterans. The final tabulation resulted in a total of 735 returned questionnaires in- (Continued on Page 10)

A SAVING SUGGESTION

As one way to save grain, it has been suggested by the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America that a temporary halt be put to distilling and brewing, both in this country and abroad.

A similar step was taken during the war to increase the production of industrial alcohol. Why not take it now to increase badly needed food supplies? Increased supplies of grain would furnish food for both men and animals, thereby decreasing the price of meat as well as of other foods and holding down inflation.

It is estimated that the stoppage of the non essential manufacture of alcoholic beverages would supply nearly one fifth of the food materials exported last year. It should also be required of the countries to which grain is exported that the use of such grain for non essential alcoholic beverages be stopped.

Since there is already on hand according to government reports 525,827,681 gallons of distilled spirits in bonded warehouses, there would be no lasting hardship even on consumers of liquor.

"Such administrative authority as now exists," says the superintendent, "should be exercised for such food conservation, and Congress should supply promptly, through legislation and appropriation, whatever aid is needed to effectuate such a program."

ANNIVERSARIES

Two important anniversaries fell within the past month—that of the Constitution and of radio.

The Constitution, on which rests the liberties we cherish, was partly derived from the evolution of the British Government from the days of Magna Carta through the Habeas Corpus Act and the Bill of Rights of 1689. The political institutions of the British Colonies in North America contributed in part to the writing of the U. S. Constitution. So did the various state constitutions created during and after the Revolutionary War, and the Articles of Confederation.

It is interesting to note that the ink was barely dry on the Constitution before the first ten amendments, "the Bill of Rights," were passed. Other amendments have followed, proving that the Constitution is an elastic document which can change to fit the times.

It is impossible to overestimate the influence of radio on our national life. To many it is a constant source of entertainment. Far more important is its educational value, the part it has played in making the citizens of this country politically conscious.

As a means of swift communication it has done as much as has the airplane to draw close together the distant parts of the world. The final results of this miracle are not visible. Through radio we already have the radar directed plane and the bomb directed by radio. Both for war and for peace the possibilities are tremendous.

Living as we do in a swiftly changing world, if we are wise we will watch carefully all developments, whether they be interpretations of the constitution which may curtail our liberties or uses of radio which may endanger our lives. It must be our purpose to use both for freedom and peace.

Money pours in on western farmers. Wheat-rich Kansas expects to book a dollar value of $1.8 billion in land production. Hugh A. Fogarty in the N. Y. Times says, "The figures in individual cases are little short of spectacular. Dan Sheriff of Sheffield, Iowa, sold 472 head of hogs for $57,871. In Gunnison, Colo., Dan Thornton, one-time movie cowboy, sold three pure bred Hereford cattle for $35,000, each. Cattle formerly brought $15 a head."

"Unreality" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, Oct. 5. Golden Text: "The hills melt like wax at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth. The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory" (Psalms 97:5, 6).

Sermon: Passages from the Bible (King James Version) include: "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee; he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved" (Psalms 55:22). Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include: "The Scriptures say, 'They that wait upon the Lord... shall not be weary, and they shall walk, and not faint.' The meaning of that passage is not perverted by applying it literally to moments of fatigue, for the moral and physical are as one in their results. When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease" (P. 218).

How Much Should a Funeral Cost?
Many bereaved families have asked this question during our 30 years of service to the people of New England.
Funeral arrangements should be selected in keeping with the personality, individual desires and position in the community of the deceased and his family — but at a cost that will not burden those who must carry on.
Daniel F. O'Brien Funeral Services are within the means of all.

Thrilled
Little five-year-old Elizabeth McManus was the name of the young lady pictured in last week's Advocate about to embark on a shoot-the-chute ride. She was thrilled with our little gift. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McManus, 46 Beacon street, and is in the kindergarten class at the Russell School.

Hero Standard Needles Sold By Lucy Marz

Because of the shortage of space in our September 18 issue, we were unable to give full justice to the Shop Lucy Marz and its amazing offers in unique and distinctive commodities.

As was mentioned in the afore said salute to Mrs. Marz, her shop is located in the Bayburn building at 822 Massachusetts avenue. While this spot is not in the heart of the shopping center of Arlington, it is readily accessible for transient automobile trade, pedestrian trade and situated at one of the car stops for those who travel via the "met."

An interesting department in this shop is the Children's section which offers toys for the infant or juvenile. One cute gift for baby is the mouton-lamb teddy bear which will thrill any youngster to wide-eyed delight. Mrs. Marz has personally selected the books in this department, one of her choice being the Bobsey Twins series for juvenile reading, besides many picture-filled books and interesting games for the preschool youngster.

With the days growing shorter, many of us will be taking up where we left off on our yarn craft. If you need yarns, instruction books or knitting needles you will be well satisfied with the selection of accessories Mrs. Marz has chosen for you. She carries the "Hero Standard" nationally advertised knitting needles, which are an invitation for any amateur or professional knitter.

Now that the fall house cleaning season is "just around the corner," it is wise to mention household cement, pot holders, decorated baskets, book-ends and many odds and ends which you may purchase at a reasonable price in the Shop of Lucy Marz.

For the High School or College girl, this amazing shop has S. W. A. K. lipstick tissues and colorful handkerchief tissues — also luggage tags for your protection in traveling with your suitcases during this back-to-school season. While on the subject of traveling, may I call your attention to a new book, "The Tourist's Advent" which mentions the stopping places and eating places for every state in the union with the listing of rates and lodgings.

Mrs. Marz is the former Marie Lovelace, who was owner for 12 years of the shop under that name in RosMdale, prior to moving to Arlington. She is no newcomer to this field as is proven by her careful selection of costume jewelry, famous name cards for all occasions and stationery in plain, pastel or floral patterns. This stationery may be personalized, if you wish, along with coasters, match covers, pencils or notepkins.

A "dream-come-true shop" for this season's hostess, home-maker or gift-hunter is the Shop Lucy Marz. Call Arlington 7101-M for suggestions or visit this unusual bargain center soon and you will be thrilled with the treasures you will find!

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Arlington Girl Scout Leaders Association made a very pleasant journey to Cape Ann to hold their first Fall meeting at the beautiful and interesting Annisquam summer home of Mrs. G. Howard Allen, a member of the Advisory Board of the Arlington Girl Scout Council. Attending the meeting were: Mrs. Allen; Mrs. Justin McCarthy, Scout Commissioner; Miss Mary Leveroni, Director; Mrs. Roy Spencer, president of the Leaders Association; Mrs. Gordon R. Williams; Mrs. Warren Calley; Mrs. Robert Penny; Mrs. Walter Alsen; Mrs. Harry Slack; Mrs. J. Herbert Gunnerson; Mrs. John J. Cox; Mrs. J. Harold Croft; Mrs. Joseph Starkey; Mrs. William Staples; Mrs. Everett Watt; Mrs. John Hickey and Mrs. J. Smith.

The next meeting of the Leaders Association will be next Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Croft, 39 Kenilworth road. There will be a talk on Arts and Crafts and colored slides of Camp Menotomy will be shown.

Senior Scouts

A most interesting program has been planned for the meetings of the Senior Girl Scouts. The bi-weekly meetings will be divided alternately between a Charm School and a Vocational Guidance program. On Monday evening, October 6th, the Senior Scouts will meet at 6:30 o'clock for a box supper to be followed by the Charm School with a speaker from the Edith Hine Salon.

CAMP FIRE NEWS

The Okiciyapi Group of Camp Fire Girls under the leadership of Mrs. Barbara McSorley assisted by their sponsor, Mrs. Dorothea Pospeshon of Lexington, held an outdoor Council Fire in Lexington recently. Joyce Sharkey, Audrey Regut and Carole Murphy took part in the fire lighting ceremony. Girls receiving trail seekers certificates and charms were Joan Nutter and Audrey Regut; for Wood Gatherers Rank, Shirley Ann McSorley and Gail Matheson, with Janet Smith and Carole Murphy receiving their rings in addition to the Wood Gatherers Rank. Eleanor Varallo and Joyce Sharkey, together with the above, received Honor Beads. Purple Beads were also awarded.

Governing themselves by the Law of the Camp Fire Girls—Hold on to Health, Be Happy—Dorothy Dalrymple, Gail Matheson, Shirley Ann McSorley, Joyce Sharkey, Carole Murphy, Janet Smith and Nancy Ryder, with their leader, Mrs. Barbara McSorley, bicycled to Beaver Brook Reservation, Waltham, on Saturday. A picnic lunch was enjoyed while plans for the Fall program were discussed.

Precision

The people of the East and West differ, for in the eastern sections of the country, you do not find the same atmosphere of friendly cordiality that exists in Geneva. The people are a bit more stiff in Lucerne, and the service in the hotels and restaurants is not as courteous or as efficient. In Geneva, the French influence provides the best in French cooking and the best in hotel and restaurant service.

Although most foodstuffs are still rationed, there is plenty of food, all of it well prepared. As you enter the country, the immigration authorities supply you with ration coupons when your visa is checked. You can get more when you run out. As a matter of fact, clearing customs and immigration in Switzerland—for an American at least—is very much like that between Canada and the United States, a very cursory, friendly inspection.

To attract tourists, the government permits an American to cash up to $200 per week in traveler's cheques, at a special tourist rate of 4.25 Swiss francs to the dollar. This would appear to work out advantageously to the traveler who is remaining in Switzerland only for a few days, because when you depart, you can change your Swiss francs back into dollars at the rate of 3.75 to the dollar. This procedure affords a profit of about $2.50 on every $20 you cash.

Prices High

But the paradox is that prices are so high that your money goes very fast indeed. Costs here are very nearly the same as in the States, with the result that a visit to Lucerne or Geneva is about as expensive as a comparable visit to New York.

Living costs here, in fact, are about equal with those in America. The average workman receives 500 Swiss francs per month, plus a 100 franc cost-of-living bonus. The total amounts to about $150 per month. The cost of clothing and food here—and the only "short item" is sugar—is very close to ours and people here complain about the difference in wages and cost of living as in the States.

But there is no fear of Communism, because there is no good soil in which it can take root. The average Swiss is a solid type of citizen, who understands his obligation to his government.

monthly meeting at the Dallin Branch Library with the chairman, Miss Gertrude Redmond, presiding. Following the business meeting, Mrs. LeRoy Shaw demonstrated the making of a terrarium highlighting her work with an interesting talk on nature.

Mrs. Marcus Gray, chairman, presided at the executive board meeting of the Camp Fire District Council recently. Miss Sylvia Koese of the Boston Camp Fire Organization was present and plans for the Fall work were discussed.

FICTION

Babcock, Ruth. Julie. The tender love story of a girl about whom all men dream, and the man who shared her story.

Bailey, H. C. Honour Among Thieves.

Bemelmans, Ludwig. Dirty Eddie. A humorous tale of Hollywood and some of its fabulous characters.

Coryn, Marjorie. Alone Among Men. Having power doesn't bring happiness, usually it's most outstanding characteristic is loneliness, as Napoleon well knew.

Duncan, T. W. Gus the Great. A man who lived his life on a grand scale much like that of the circus he owned, and never realized the big things he missed.

Feuchtwanger, Lion. Proud Destiny. France, at the time of the American Revolution, was a gay country, particularly in the court of Louis XVI; but indirectly and finally directly, it came to the aid of the struggling United States.

Gilkyson, T. W. Toward What Bright Land. All people are not heroic and wonderful but when a person awakens to reality and realizes this fact, it's rather a shock.

Levin, Meyer. My Father's House. A clear picture of Palestine to self, his family, his village, his canton and his way of life. He is, in essence, a capitalist, for the chances are he owns his own farm, or his own home, and he knows that he has freedom and a standard of living few other European peoples now enjoy.

The European ideal of self-sufficiency has come to full flower here in Switzerland, neutral through many wars which might have ruined her economy if it had not been for the determination of her people. Lacking coal for fuel and power, Switzerland has made admirable use of her potential for hydro-electric power, and at the present time almost all her rail transport is powered by electricity, as are most of her few industries. The nation, during World War II, lived in constant dread that the rail tunnel to Italy—one of the great engineering triumphs of our time—might be bombed. She also feared invasion. And the reminders of war you see in Switzerland are all of a defensive nature: Tank traps, posts set in huge rows in the fields to ward off parachute troops, bombproof shelters for ammunition in deep mountain caves, hollowed out in the rock. It is refreshing to see a land with no bombed out buildings, no shell craters, no crumbling trenches.

Military Description

It is an interesting fact that military conscription here is—and has been for years—an accepted fact. Most of the able-bodied men are held in a reserve status to the age of 60. There is no quarrel or discussion about it—it's just one of those things a good citizen must be willing to do, to preserve his own freedom.

There are large numbers of people here from other nations, on business or as tourists. The French and British are in the greatest numbers, and it is hard to reconcile Britain's dire need for foreign exchange, with the large number of her people who are spending it over here in tourist travel. Not that the British don't deserve vacations—especially after all that they have been through in this war. But it seems strange that if foreign exchange is short in Britain, the British should be expending it abroad, on the luxury of tourist travel.

day is revealed in the story of a boy who is searching for his father after long years of separation.

Lewisohn, Ludwig. Case of Mr. Crump. A marriage that should never have been contracted is described in its horrifying details.

Miller, H. (T.) Sound of Chariots. The Revolutionary War was fought in the South as well as the north; and there, too, there were those who were on both sides, so they could be with the winner.

Morton, Stanley. Yankee Trader. An historical novel covering the period from the French and Indian war to the eve of the American Revolution.

Sartre, J. P. Age of Reason. Europe in 1938 was rushing into war; and the young people discussed fascism, communism and all the other problems that confronted the world in those days.

Selbert, Elizabeth. Take Three Doctors. Three doctors, each with his own viewpoint on the practicing of medicine, find with the help of a disaster that they may not always be right.

Spear, Dorothy. Spring on 52nd Street. By relating their story a young man provides the key that helps solve the mystery of the girl he loved.

Stone, Irving. Adversary in the House. A biographical novel based on the life of Eugene V. Debs, who devoted his life to the cause of the working man.

completion of his basic, he enjoyed a short furlough at home.
Then he started on his trip to

Array of Stars to Appear at Jamboree
The greatest array of stage, screen, and radio stars from all over the country will appear at the 2nd annual jamboree to be staged under the auspices of the Christopher Columbus Catholic Center of the North End at the Boston Garden on Sunday at 8 P. M. The proposed center is a project of the Archbishop Cushing fund which has been receiving support from all nationalities and creeds. The North End is the most congested district in the City of Boston and has less recreation facilities per square mile than any other district in the Hub.

Among those famous stars who have promised to attend are Jack Haley, film, radio and stage star from the Boston RKO theatre.
Eleanor Powell, dancing star of stage and screen from the Latin Quarter, Harold Russell, famed star of the motion picture, "Best Years of Our Lives", Dean Murphy, Copley Plaza star, Hal Le-Roy, dance sensation and Johnny Howard, the popular comedian from the Hotel Bradford. Mrs.
Pasquale Massa, Varnum street, president of the Women's Italian Club, is among the patronesses for the affair.

Arlington Contributes $1,486 to Cancer Fund
The Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society has received over $400,000 this year —74% more than last year—and the citizens of Arlington contributed $1486.00 of this sum. The chairman of the committee was Arthur O. Yeames and he and his volunteer committee are largely responsible for bringing the needs of the cancer cause to the public's attention. Once this was done, the response of the people demonstrated their earnest determination to join the battle against cancer.

Arthur T. Lyman, president of the Society, expressed his gratitude to all who have helped make the Society's work possible, and added, "Their best thanks will come from the knowledge that they are actively saving human lives."

Time for Savings Bank Life Insurance Savings Banks throughout Massachusetts will join in observing October of this year as Savings Bank Life Insurance Month.
It is announced by William B.
Snow, Jr., President of the Savings Bank Life Insurance Council of Massachusetts, increased Newspaper advertising, special displays in Bank Lobbies, and broadened distribution of literature, will be among the methods used to inform the public of the benefits of this low-cost protection.

The theme of the campaign will be that "Now is the Time" for everyone to find out about Savings Bank Life Insurance, which was established in this state 40 years ago. Both the Council and Individual Banks will stress this appeal for action in their advertising.

"Recent months have clearly shown," Mr. Snow observed, "that in these times of high living costs Savings Bank Life Inurance has a strong appeal for those who are aware of its advantages. Many people realize that they need added life insurance protection to provide sufficient family security in terms of purchasing power. At the same time, increased living costs have reduced the amount of income available for that purpose. This, therefore, seems to be a particularly appropriate time to call attention, through Savings Bank Life Insurance Month, to this low-cost protection issued over-the-counter direct to the buyer at Savings Banks throughout the Commonwealth."

Handicapped Have Excellent Records
It's good business for employers to utilize the abilities, skills and experience of handicapped persons, and the entire community benefits when this is done, Arthur P. McEllan, chairman of the local NEPH committee stated today in calling attention to the objectives of National Employ the Handicapped Week.

There have been many famous persons who have been physically handicapped such as Steinmetz, a giant in the field of invention, Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric bulb and phonograph, Helen Keller, author and lecturer, Beethoven the composer, Sarah Bernhardt the actress, Byron the poet, Willy Post, Floyd Gibbons, Julius Caesar, Bill Stern, Robert Louis Stevenson, and thousands of others. These personages became famous because of their abilities and not because of their disabilities.

Surveys have shown that handicapped workers had better accident records, better absentee records, their rate of turnover was much lower, and they stayed on their jobs longer. Employers in Arlington and vicinity who have openings available, which handicapped persons can fill are urged to contact either the chairman of the NEPH committee, Mr. McEllan, of the Employment Office of the Division of Employment Security, 1416 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

On Friday afternoon three hundred students gathered in the new auditorium of the High School to cheer the football team. The group was largely composed of sophomores at the request of Principal Gammons in order to learn the cheers.

It turned out to be a colorful affair with head cheer leader Carol Cadario, getting a good production of volume. A good cheering section will be a big help to the sagging Red and Gray clubs when it plays its first home game vs. Waltham on October 11.

Council to Offer Fine Arts Program to Arlington Children

The Arlington Council of Parents-Teachers Associations has made arrangements to present, during the present school year, a series of three programs of music, drama and the dance. The first of these will be a presentation by the well known Theatre of Boston of "All Baba and the Forty Thieves". This performance will be identical both as to cast and scenery with plays regularly presented by this group at much higher prices.

The second program will be a youth concert by the Arlington Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by the popular Leo Litvin. This concert will be similar to the youth concerts presented by the Boston Symphony Orchestra which have proved so enjoyable to a limited number of children who have been able to attend.

The third program will be a dance concert presenting the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow". This will be staged by a dance group under the direction of Jan Veen, supervisor of dancing at the Boston Conservatory of Music.

All of these events are to be held in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall on the following dates:—December 6, 2:30 p. m., Grades 4-6; 7:30 p. m., Grades 7-8-9.

Youth Concert—February 8, 10 a. m., Grades 4-6; February 15, 3:00 p. m., Grades 7-8-9.

Dance Concert—April 10, 2:30 p. m., Grades 4-6; 7:30 p. m., Grades 7-8-9.

Normally the price of admission for such a fine program would be more than the average family could afford. However, because these performances are sponsored by the council, as a non-profit educational project, each child in grades 4 to 9 inclusive is being given an opportunity to purchase a combination ticket to all three events at a less cost.

Tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

June Haver and Mark Stevens are teamed on the screen for the first time as the couple whose romance is unfolded against the colorful background of the vaudeville world at the turn of the century in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

Filmed in Technicolor, musical extravaganza produced by George Jessell and directed by Lloyd Bacon, opens Sunday for four days at the University Theatre.

"Big Town," starring Philip Reed, Hilary Brooke and Robert Lowery is the companion film.

Starting Thursday is Hunt Stromberg's psychological drama of a beautiful woman in search of a new personality, "Dishonored Lady." Starring Hedy Lamarr as the fickle, restless Madeline Damien, brilliantly successful as the art director of a smart magazine and the toast of New York night life, the picture features Dennis O'Keefe and John Loder as two contenders for her hand, representing respectively the life she hopes to lead and the life she is trying to forget.

Norris Guest Speaker at Baptist Men's Class

The first of an outstanding list of speakers will be the guest of the Men's Class of the First Baptist Church on Sunday, October 7th, when Dr. Forbes H. Norris, Supt. of Schools in Winchester, will speak at the noon meeting. Many visitors are expected to hear this outstanding speaker who comes highly qualified to discuss his subject. Members of the class will remember the popularity with which he has been received elsewhere when he has appeared as speaker and lecturer.

The class orchestra, which has been an outstanding feature of this class, will take over its Fall assignment and play a processional and recessional number as well as accompany the hymns.

At their meeting last Sunday, final arrangements for bowling Thursday evening of this week were announced. Also it was announced that Doug Moore of 19 Haskell street, Lexington, would head the War Orphan Committee sponsoring the support of little Franco Fontana of Florence, Italy.

Morton Bowe to Sing in Town Hall on October 15th

Morton Bowe, who left Arlington some years ago, taking with him his wife, an Arlington girl—the former Phyllis Blake—was back in his home town last week when he and Mrs. Bowe were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Hunt. Mr. Bowe came to arrange for a concert which he will give in Robbins Memorial Town Hall on the fifteenth.

This is one of an experimental series in which he plans to prove that a concert singer can make a living without all the apparatus of concert bureaus, radio sponsors and operatic productions.

Interviewed by the Boston Herald's Roving Reporter, Rudolph Ellis, Jr., another Arlington boy, Mr. Bowe said: "I look at it this way, what chance do the people of all cities and towns of New England have to hear the songs they know and love sung in person by establishing radio or concert personalities?"

"I am convinced there are thousands of people who love music just as sincerely, maybe even more sincerely, who don't understand art music, don't want to, and make no bones about it. They like the better popular songs, excerpts from favorite operettas, even folk songs, spirituals and ballads. I think I can give it to them and I'm going to try."

"Of course," he added, smiling widely, "I've got one big break to begin with. I don't have to hire an accompanist. My wife's a fine pianist—and I can tune a piano. And believe me, with some of the pianos you run into in this business, that's half the battle."

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Sears of Pleasant street left last Saturday for a motor trip through Maine and Canada.

National Newspaper Week is a symbol of all our precious freedoms, and makes us all proud to say: "I Am An American."

She was born in Grafton and after she had finished high school she studied at the Tucker Pianoforte School in Worcester and then taught piano. However, she enjoys plays and books as well as dictating various conditions, from families living under crowded conditions, those sharing rooms or apartments, to those satisfied for the present, but looking for homes or apartments of their own in Arlington.

The survey of available housing disclosed that only two owners of large single houses were willing to convert to apartments. The above findings were reported to the Selectmen who called a Special Town Meeting in December, 1946. This Town Meeting voted to create a Veterans' Housing Committee with authority to determine what assistance could be rendered, and to put it into effect.

The first consideration was available land. There being no lots or areas of suitable size or shape for multiple unit housing, as built in Boston and Cambridge, the next consideration was Tax Title Lots, of which, by agreement with the Selectmen, about 200 will be made available to Veterans at $1.00 a lot. These of course, will be subject to the process of Title Clearance, and also certain restrictions, as to use by the Veterans.

A complete list of available Tax Title Lots showing sites and location, will be on display at the Department of Veterans Services, in the Robbins House, where it is hoped they will be of assistance to interested veterans and their families.

Flaherty, and Rev. John Nicol Mark. They recalled the club's beginnings, the days when it met in the garage at the Center, and traced its growth under Mr. Moore's guidance to its present flourishing state, with a fine clubhouse and a tremendous increase in membership.

It fell to the lot of Roscoe O. Elliott, former club president, to present to Mr. Moore a more tangible token of appreciation of the work he has done in the town—a check for $750—and to Mrs. Moore, two dozen roses. In presenting these he recalled that two years before she had done all the secretarial work for the club.

Mr. Moore, expressing his gratitude both for the check and for the appreciation shown in the speeches, spoke of the pleasure he had found in the work, of the cooperation he had received and of the regret which he and his family felt in leaving the town they had grown to love.

The new director, James H. Sumner, introduced at the dinner, said that he hoped he would be able to follow in Mr. Moore's steps.

The New Director

Mr. Sumner is a native of New Bedford and was educated in the schools of that city, plus special studies at Lynn and Boston. He taught swimming and water safety in the New Bedford Y.M.C.A. and First Aid for the Red Cross in the same city. While in New Bedford, he was for many years connected with scouting and served in several capacities in the New Bedford Boys' Club, including the job of assistant camp director at the club camp on the Cape.

Mr. Sumner, while at the General Electric Company in Lynn, served on the Planning Board as chairman of the Mutual Benefit Plan, and also headed up the wartime First Aid instruction program. He carried through the job of Field Commissioner of Senior Scouting in the Bayshore Council at Lynn.

Since coming to the Boys' Clubs of Boston, Mr. Sumner has had the privilege of directing the senior-intermediates department program. Later becoming assistant manager and program director at the Bunkerhill Clubhouse. Following this came an assignment to the Roxbury Boys' Club as Manager, a position he is leaving to assume the duties of executive director at the Arlington Boys' Club.

Half Hour of Music At Capital Theatre

Farrington's Record Store and the Capitol Theatre are collaborating in what promises to be a pleasant project. Each evening except Sunday, from half past seven until eight, Farrington's records will be played. After a few evenings, it is expected that it will be largely a request program.

Besides this half hour of enjoyable music, there will be a pleasant surprise each Monday night when some lucky person will be given five dollars worth of records from the Record shop.

First Leo Litwin

Rehearsal Gratifying

The first rehearsal of the chorus and of the orchestra of the Philharmonic Society of Arlington under the baton of Leo Litwin, was gratifying. Although there were many new faces in the chorus, a large number of regular members were on hand promptly Monday evening to give their new conductor a warm and cordial reception. The chorus especially got off to a good start with eighty members present.

Harvey Davies, well known in Arlington because of his work as choir director of the First Baptist Church, is chorus accompanist and assistant choral director for the coming year. Mr. Davies is admirably suited to this position since he has directed many well known groups in this vicinity. He is also known for his work on the program, "Behind the baton" over station WEEI on Sundays.

The orchestra was considerably larger than in the past with about 50 players present at the first rehearsal. It was clearly evident that under the able direction of Mr. Litwin, the orchestra will gain much in musicianship and in the spirit of cooperation.

It is hoped that many more instrumentalists will join this orchestra. Especially needed are oboes and bassoons, but any other instrumentalists who are interested are cordially invited to attend the next rehearsal on Tuesday, October 7th, at 8 o'clock at the Arlington High School Hall.

The rehearsal of the chorus for the week of October 12 will be changed due to the holiday. It will be held on Tuesday evening October 14, in the Robbins Library, at 7:30 for the Men's Glee Club and 8 o'clock for the chorus. This rehearsal will be conducted by Mr. Davies.

—Mrs. John J. Lyons, Jr., 15 Osborne road, attended a board meeting at the College of Our Lady of the Elms in Chicopee on Sunday. Mrs. Lyons is president of the Boston Chapter of her Alma Mater.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton returned Tuesday night from Crawford Notch where Mr. Stratton, with Mrs. Stratton as his guest, attended an Educational Conference. They report snow there on Tuesday morning.

Welcome New Members

At Get-Together

There was a gathering of nearly two hundred and fifty at the Pleasant Street Congregational Church Tuesday evening at a get-together to welcome new members of the church. Following the supper, the minister, Rev. David G. Colwell introduced the new members, forty-five of whom were present and also those who had been members for forty years or more—a larger number.

Water Chamberlain led community singing and later conducted a quiz program in which every one took part and which afforded a very pleasant evening for all. The supper was in charge of Mrs. John K. Berry, Jr., Mrs. Thomas A. Pitre and Gordon R. Thompson.
